

You put a price up on my face
Can't let this beauty go to waste
I come in packing I'm a woman don't need guns to get my way
They love my body fear the brains
Want all power they can take
This isn't just another law we'll bring the war and plant the stakes
Because to them this is a game
A whole monopoly in place
I saw a child in my future now I got him shooting blanks
You were yelling you can't breathe under a temporary problem
Now I'm yelling I can't breathe
They got my body under holy water
Summers hotter
Got my sweater on and I stay hidden
From the ones who swear they want only the best since the beginning
With my ancestors cooking
While all their daughters were cleaning
And families living under single income 'merican dreamin
And I've been givin cold shoulders but I guess that turned you on Got offended you can't hold me down and do what you want
Need to force me in positions cause you havin bad thoughts
But I know the God I love would've never taught what you taught
Never would've taught what you taught
Keep on drafting up new pages so the lions stay locked
The excuses for your actions don't mean shit to me
Dropped
With your ego so damn big you gotta kill to get a shot

You've changed but so have I
She's brave in all our eyes
Oy vey you sit up high while I'm barely getting by
By
By
I'm barely getting by
By
By
I'm barely getting by
I'm barely gettin by
By
By
I'm barely getting by
